We have a network of families in our local community who are inviting you into their homes. They want to make you feel at home in Los Angeles, to have a family with whom to celebrate Shabbat and holidays, and for you to have people with whom to just spend time. When signing up for the network, you are not committing to every Shabbat, or for every holiday. Rather, the family network is an opportunity for you to be welcomed into a home when you would like to spend time off-campus with a family. AJU will have regular Shabbat services and programs, as well as some holiday programs. The Host Family Network will give you the option for a place to go to when AJU does not have an organized event, or whenever you want a family away from home.

If you are interested in being matched with a family, please complete and return this form by August 1, 2010.

___ I am interested in participating in the Host Family Network

My preferences are:

___ To be hosted by a family on Shabbats
___ To be hosted by a family on holidays (Jewish and/or civic)
___ To be hosted by a family on (other) ________________________________
___ I need to be matched with a family that keeps a kosher home
___ I need a host family within walking distance of a synagogue

I would prefer the family to be affiliated with the ________________ movement. (i.e. Reform, Conservative, Orthodox, Reconstructionist, other, no preference)

Name: ________________________________________________

Phone #: ________________________________________________

E-mail address: __________________________________________

Permission to share contact information: ______________________